

PPC. What does this mean to you.?

As everyone knows you can create shade with almost any fabric. It is as simple as putting a barrier between you and the sun. What most people are unaware of is the various levels of protection provided by different fabrics. Shade cloth for instance was originally designed to allow sufficient light and UV through to enable plants to be protected from the harshest of the sun's rays and yet continue to flourish. This is great for plants but not so great for humans.

This is where PPC or people protection cloth comes into play.

PPC cloths are designed to protect people not plants. People need to be protected from the damage caused by over exposure to harmful UVA and UVB rays. Australia has one of the highest incidences of Melanoma in the world. Every year more people die from skin cancer in Australia than die on our roads.

Don't just accept any old cloth to shade you. Ask for a PPC rated cloth because we just aren't plants.
